New Schedule of Fees

In order to continue to enhance services, the Construction Services Division (CSD) will implement a new simplified fee schedule on January 1, 2009. The results of an independent cost of services study conducted by Maximus Consulting has resulted in a new permit fee schedule that ties our permit fees to an approximate recovery of cost of services rendered.

Building permit fees for new construction are calculated based on a square foot factor and are all-inclusive. All other permit fees have flat rates based on approximate cost of service. Fees for both residential and commercial construction projects will remain competitive with those charged by similar jurisdictions throughout central Florida.

For your convenience and review, the new schedule can be found at <http://www.tampagov.net/permits>.

For more information regarding this new fee schedule, please contact the Construction Services Division at (813) 274-3100.
